JENNIFER KLOS

Based in Dallas, art advisor Jennifer Klos assists private collectors in the acquisition of fine and decorative arts, specializing in modern and contemporary art.

As President of Collector House Inc., Jennifer enjoys sharing her curatorial eye, knowledge and expertise of the art world with clients nationwide.

During her eight-year tenure as Curator at the Oklahoma City Museum of Art, she organized national and international exhibitions, expanding the presentation of decorative arts and design and contemporary art installations. Jennifer earned her master's degree in the History of Decorative Arts, Design, and Culture from the Bard Graduate Center in New York and her bachelor's degree in Art History and French from Vanderbilt University. She is a graduate of the Ingham School of Design, London and Christie's Education, London.

As an independent curator and art historian, she regularly lectures on the topics of art collecting design history. Jennifer is a board member of the American Friends of Attingham, a scholarly organization devoted to the study of English country houses and collections, and a member of the Association of Art Museum Curators and the Costume Society of America.
